Release

Jan. 12
7:15 PM.

Darling ~~mine~~
Don't you love the appropriateness of the heading? But it's a bit misleading cause as a matter of fact, there isn't a great deal of news just Wellesley College.
But did you notice the time on the Release? No, I haven't been studying since 5 o'clock and any such thing but I heard only one of the 3 bells which ring at 7 o'clock, thought it was the breakfast 7:30 bell bounded out of bed, and it wasn't till the window was all dawn and I was on the way to the lavatorial department that I realized it was barely a few minutes after 7 instead of the usual 7:20! I almost went back to bed again for those 20 minutes but decided it wasn't worth it so dressed leisurely and here I am! I do feel so virtuous! It seems a little chilly, and my ski pants grace the long skinny extremities (g'wan — I've gained 3 pounds!) Yesterday was most springlike however, coats open etc. And the sun! It actually peeped thru for quite a definite space of time, & the world became very joyful.

Oh & forget to thank you for asking Mildred for suggestions. Does she have a job yet? If you think it would bother her, don't ask her. I mean don't think you 'have to unless you were going to write to her anyway.
You & she both probably have enough to worry about without bothering about my little radio ideas.

Had a class meeting yesterday — The Junior Prom is April 27, Cost $6.90 and is the outstanding event. Last year a man came all the way from Oregon just for it, & they radiate from all parts. How Ralph could come? I haven't even told him I'm going to be home in February. Do you think I should? If he only had a vacation Monday or something, & could drive me back!
Wonder if it's feasible — oh oh — there goes the breakfast bell — times beautifully — and with more love than a page your devoted
